Was stopped as I left the house yesterday by a rather administrative note from Howard Nece. So I stayed put and called him up and arranged a date for 3 or 4 - before he leaves for O.S.A. Do hope to bring off a decisive victory next week. That's why I want not to complicate matters, and have you corroborate possible deals.

W. 2.

June 19th. 28.

Dear Mr Yorke.

My dear Mr Yorke

I have just got back from seeing Mr Strutton of Rider and Co. We had a long talk over the Crowley MS, and went into it in some detail. He tells me that he thinks from what I tell them that this MS was submitted to them before, in Mr Shirley's time. Shirley objected too strongly to Crowley to have anything to do with it, but Riders under the new regime may be more amenable.

He says, however, that it is advisable that the MS should be presented in such a condition as to be ready for immediate publication, for, apart from the printer's feelings in the matter of alterations and corrections, it will pass from his hands to those of the business manager for a final decision, and it would be most inadvisable for him to see A.C.'s ribaldries, even if crossed out. He also says that it would not be acceptable to his firm to have a multitude of footnotes, referring to other works not published by them, and that references to his school should also be eliminated. ~~xx~~

Would you care for me to go through the MS and cut out the unacceptables, and then have it re-typed? The eliminations would be quite a minor matter, nothing relevant to the text. Mr Strutton suggested this, as I have done a good deal of work for them and know what they want.

(The Reply)

I am much interested in the other MS also; it is not as ~~xxx~~ valuable as the first, and I doubt its obtaining a publisher. Nevertheless, there is no doubt that a great deal of what he says is perfectly true. Of course, if the other book made a success, it is possible that this one might be accepted, but it would have to be extensively cut. Probably private printing would be better.

Yours sincerely,

Vidal Evans (D. M. Evans)

Stimley's business relations with me were uniformly cordial

It would be absurd to cut out footnotes. The objection is ridiculous. Also dishonest.

Yrs of 30 May - Regard exceedingly. Use your own judgment entirely about "Magick": it is your own private & in Wis at the moment. Personally, I should be inclined to hand it to printer to "make siccar" giving Rider the proofs, & the other Mrs. of Heimenman's. On this line of thought: "my job is to secure publication, no matter if we don't tell a copy." You do your part, but it up to the Gods to do theirs. Consider this point of view, but don't let it warp your judgment.

You of 30 May - I rejoice exceedingly. Use your own judgment entirely about "Hayick": it is your own private C. W. at the moment. Personally, I should be inclined to hand it to Hunter, to "milk" siccau" giving Rider the proofs, and the other Mrs. of Heinemann prints. On this line of thought: "my job is to secure publications, no matter if we don't tell a copy." You do your bit, but it is up to the Gods to do theirs. Consider this point of view, but don't let it warp your judgment.

I shall be glad to have a few sample prospectuses
- but business details appeal me -

I note your probability about July 15-21. But let me know definitely as soon as you know yourself.

What with my ^{own} measure, my view of Holy Scripture, & intense M^r. work daily, the going strong. In a much better M^r. condition than I have been for ~~of~~ some years. All is now moving to a great extent. 9343 ^{July} 1886

I hope you will be unable to recognize me except by nothing at a distance - unless in an emergency so serious as to

I see: this knowledge incurs certain precise foundations of practical magick. And we (with the unerring eye of genius) have spotted already that this Mass of the Holy Ghost is in question. But also (with theerring nose of the unerring slant) you have spotted it all away, & that in a very dangerous way.
You are likely to "eat and drink damnation to yourself" if you try any funny business in practice. For though I could write the whole main secret in less than half a dozen words the right use of it implies a point-of-view as well as an extended knowledge of, & technical ability in, Magick. Etc. etc.

Now just at present the regular apparatus for teaching is out of order. We need a comprehensive scheme of reconstruction.
