

Same I have been asking for a set of Equinox - copy sent

This letter has been framed by W. G. B. from recent dubious remarks. He has received much abuse recently.
666.

28.1. Recd 4.2.25.

Abstract to Murray.

161

- I Do not send any more money to Hay except through the Beant
- II Concentrate on getting the 1st Vol. of the Hay typed and ready to show the publisher
- III Send out the two marked copies of 777. This is important. The Beant wants to finish the work ready for publication after the Hay.
- IV Set of Equ. from America
Cephalopod Museum
Mrs of contents, a 777. & 2 marked copies of available.
- V No unreplaceable works like Grant Thurst to be sold.

By the by could not you & Howard get a place together with a gas ring where you could do your own cooking. I should say this would be more comfortable than the city houses.

Since I have been asking for a set of Equinox - eagerly

This letter has been framed by W. G. B. from rough dictated remarks. He has removed much abuse & vulgarity.
666.

28.1. Recd 4.2.25.

Abraham Vo Hirray.

161

- I Do not send any more money to Hag except through the Beast.
- II Concentrate on getting the 1st Vol. of the Hag typed and ready to show the publishers.
- III Send out the two marked copies of 777. This is important. The Beast wants to finish this work ready for publication after the Hag.
- IV Set of Eqx. Kuo. Ameko Cefala Magical Dreams.
Mrs of comanting a 777. & 2 marked copies if available.
- V. No irreplaceable works like Giant Thumb
to be sold.

By the by could not you & Mad get a place together with a gas ring where you could do your own cooking. I should say this would be more comfortable
than the city houses.

Perugia & Latakia Pyorrhoea Tooth Powder

Maas.

Typed. Hay. We all and. w^h the 1st part did not affect to H. & B; we are glad to know that as soon as they see the part they want to see they will fall over it.

Disdainful silence. Damned idiotic. How can we help you if we don't know what is going on & what is wanted.

Trusteeship. £20 extra at end of the month to enable me to return to Paris. — interest of all the beneficiaries, etc. 666

7. Mediterranean Manifesto. I am sending you, under sep. cover, 20 copies of the M. M. Will you place these ^{of the M. M.} gently, yourself, on the notice boards of various Theos. Societies & Christian Science
Reading rooms. Look there up in the London Directory.
Don't attempt to ask permission to do this; do it, and don't be seen to do it. And if you are seen, refuse to give any exp^t whatever.

93

93/93

Yours faithfully

Alastair

31. 666. 31.

Plunge & Lataha Pyorrhoea Tooth Powder

Trans.

Typed. Hoz. We all and. w/ the 1st part did not affect to H. & B; we are greatly concerned that as soon as they see the foot they want to see they will fall
over it.

Dreadful silence. Darned idiotic. How can we help you if we don't know what is going on & what is wanted.

Trusteeship. £20 extra at end of the month to enable me to return to Paris. — interest of all
the beneficiaries, etc. 666

7. Mediterranean Manifesto / on sending you, under sep. cover, 20 copies of the H. H.
C. Foster Will you place these ^{of the H. H.} quietly, yourself, on the notice boards of various. Theos. Societies & Christian Science.
Ready rooms. Look there up in the London Directory.
Don't attempt to ask permission to do this; do it, and don't be seen to do it. And if you are seen, refuse to give any expⁿ whatever.

93 98/93
Yours faithfully
Alastair

31.666.31.

Haas.

Pengue & Lataha Pyon hiee. Towell Powder

Typed. Hoq. We all and. w/ the 1st part did not affect to H. & B; we are greatly concerned that a son or by see the part they want to see they will fall
over it.

Disdainful silence. Darned words. How can we help you if we don't know what is going on & what is wanted.

Trusteeship. £20 extra at end of the month to enable he to return to Paris. — intent of all the beneficiaries, etc. 666

7. Mediterranean Manifesto / on sending you, and sep. cover, 20 cpts
C. J. Haller Will you place the ^{of the H. H.} quarterly, yourself on the notice boards of various. I have. Societies & Christian Science.
Ready room. Look there up the London Directory.
Don't attempt to ask permission to do this; do it, and don't be seen to do it. And if you are seen, refuse to give any exp^t whatever.

93

93/93

Your fraternities

Alastair

31.666.31.

Side San San, Texas,

163

Feb. 17/25 c.v.

Case Inland,

93

The Beest wired you on Feb 13 the equivalent of 1000 francs with a message "Take secure 1731. and Stock, Home forth with."
This is answer to your letter of Feb. 9

He has asked Brother B. and myself to undertake the arrangements for his and for the safe conveyance of much of what you have in hand. Enclosed a letter for him. Also cop. of letter sent to Cox and King which will explain itself. That will of course have to be much of the selecting.

93

93/93

Yours fraternally,

Alatrac

31-666-31

Texas, Feb. 14/25 c.v.

163

Case Inland,

93

Brother B. has come to the rescue in the most amazing, speedy fashion. [I have substituted by having the inside of his hand to be removed. I recommend socially similar for yourself.] Please fall in with the arrangement that he is making for us without formally objection, argument, inhibition or a big incident.

93

93/93

Yours fraternally

T 17.0. 666

This is to confirm the general instructions.

Side. bon Said, Tunis,

167

Feb. 17/25 c.v.

Care Frater,

93

The Beast wired you on Feb 13 the equivalent of 1000 francs with a message "Make secure Mss. and Stock, None fault with."
This is answer to your letter of Feb. 9

He has asked Brother B. and myself to undertake the arrangements for his end for the safe conveyance of much of what you have in hand. Enclosed a letter from him. Also copy of letter sent to Cox and King which will explain itself. I must well of course have to do much of the selecting.

93

93/93

Yours fraternally,

Alastrail

31 - 666 - 51

Tunis, Feb. 14/25 c.v.

168

Care Frater,

93

Brother Barron has come to the rescue in the most amazing, spirit fashion. [I have indicated by coming the inside of his head to be removed. I recommend socially similar for yourself.] Please fall in with the arrangement that he is making for us without further delay, argument, inhibition or after discussion.

93

93/93

Yours fraternally

T. H. O. 666

This is to confirm the general instructions.

Feb. 17/25 c.v.

Care Inalien,

93

The Beast wired you on Feb 13 the equivalent of 1000 francs with a message "Take secure Mrs. and Stock, none forth with."
This is answer to your letter of Feb. 9

He has asked Brother B. and myself to undertake the arrangements from this end for the safe conveyance of much of what you have in hand. Enclosed a letter from him. Also copy of letter sent to Cox and King which will explain itself. Funds will of course have to do much of the selecting.

93

93/93

Yours fraternally,

Alastair

31-666-31

Tues, Feb. 14/25 c.v.

162

Care Inalien,

93

Brother Barron has come to the rescue in the most amazing, spirit-ful way. [I have indicated by coming the 'side of his hand' to be removed. I recommend something similar for yourself.] Please fall in with the arrangement that he is making for us without permitting delay, argument, inhibition or after discussion.

93

93/93

Yours fraternally

T. H. O. 666

This is to confirm the general instructions

You will probably receive within the next few days a sum of money to be devoted to getting Mudda proper clothes. Instructions etc. ^{are being} will be sent her and Jane. ^{Later} Herewith cheque. Please devote it to the purpose last mentioned.

H. An account of the Custom's situation is in order. Bro B. might and would have helped in person if he had been consulted when in London. Please give a full account.

You will probably receive within the next few days a sum of money to be devoted to getting Mudd proper clothes. Instructions etc. ^{are being} will be sent him and Jane. ^{Later} Here with cheque. Please devote it to the purpose last mentioned.

H. An account of the Custom's situation is in order. Bro B. ³⁰⁰⁰ might and would have helped immensely if he had been consulted when in London. Please give a full account.

You will probably receive within the next few days a sum of money to be devoted to getting ^{and having} ~~the~~ proper clothes. Instructions etc. will be sent by ^{letter} and Tave. I enclose cheque. Please devote it to the purpose last mentioned.

H. An account of the Custom's situation is in order. ³⁰⁰⁰ Bro B.
might and would have helped in some way if he had been consulted when in London. Please give a full account.

Side for Said, Tunis

Feb. 18/25 c.v.

(Jure Wilfr.)
Dear Janet,

93

Your scrawl is yesterday - just as I had designed you.
Please do not follow any of the Madame H. Crook's method in that beauty parlour - if you do, you'll find they will have to close down and you'll be without a job. Enough of this.

One of our worthy brethren is sending, by this post, a cheque for £30 to Murray for the purpose of dressing O.P.V.
You must superintend the job. I enclose a list of what to get - and where to get it - and please stick to getting the best of anything you set out to get.

Write us (I've asked O.P.V. for facts but prefer them first hand) what you could live on reasonably comfortably so as to do the Hag. Not flushed yet but waking up gradually; I have, of course, very strongly in mind that "clerk home" - is there now any of winning out a flat for a fairly long period - as I did in Paris. I hate to think of water laid out etc. Anyway, if an opportunity comes along, grab.

Great haste to get this mail

Love from all

93 93/93

Alfred

Sirton Sand, Tunis

Feb. 18/25 c.v.

(Hans Wolff)

Dear Janet,

93

Your scrawl in yesterday - just as I had designs on you. Please do not follow any of the Ida de H. Crooke's method in that beauty parlour - if you do, you'll find they will have to close down and you'll be without a job. Enough of this.

One of our wealthy brethren is sending, by this post, a cheque for £30 to Murray for the purpose of dressing O.P.V. You must superintend the job. I enclose a list of what to get and where to get it and please stick to getting the best of anything you set out to get.

Write us (I've asked O.P.V. for facts but prefer them first hand) what you could live on reasonably comfortably so as to do the Hag. Not flushed yet but waking up gradually; I have, of course, very strongly in mind that "clerk house" - is there now of winning out a flat for a long long period - as I did in Paris. I hate to think of water laid out etc. Anyway, if an opportunity comes along, grab.

Great haste to get this mail

Love from all

93 93/93

Alfred

Amount as usual

Sir tou Said, Tunis

Feb. 18/25 c.v.

(Jane Wolfe)

Dear Janet,

93

Your scrawl is yesterday - just as I had designs on you. Please do not follow any of the Ida de H. Crooke's method in that beauty parlour - if you do, you'll find they will have to close down and you'll be without a job. Enough of this.

One of our wealthy bacchanals is sending, by this post, a cheque for £30 to Murray for the purpose of dancing O.P.V. You must superintend the job. I enclose a list of what to get and where to get it and please stick to getting the best of anything you set out to get.

Write us (I've asked O.P.V. for facts but prefer them first hand) what you could live on reasonably comfortably so as to do the Hag. Not flushed yet but waking up gradually; I have, of course, very strongly in mind that "clerk house" - is there now way of working out a flat for a fairly long period - as I did in Paris. I hate to think of waste (landlady etc. Anyway, if an opportunity comes along, grab it.

Good-bate to get the mail

Love from all

93 93/93

Alfred

Mr. Ben Sand, Texas

Ad. 18/25 c.v.

[one week]

Dear Janet,

93

Your account is yesterday - just as I had thought you.
Please do not follow my glib 12a de H. Crooks's method in that beautiful pattern - if you do, you'll find they will have to close down and you'll be without a job. Enough of this.

One of our wealthy gentlemen is sending, by the post, a cheque for £50 to Murray for the purpose of paying O.P.V.
You must suspend him the job. I send a list of what to get and like to get it and please stick to getting the best of anything you set out to get.

Write as I've asked O.P.V. for facts but prefer them
first hand) what you could live on reasonably comfortably so as to do the thing. Not flunked yet but working up gradually; I hear, of course, very strongly in mind that "clerk home" - in the morning of working out a flat for a long long period - on 12a de H. Crooks's 12a de H. of what I send you etc. Anyway, if an opportunity comes along, quick.

Just think to get this mail

Love & friend

93 93/93

Adelaine

Better to look at 1 good one.

1 on if possible 2 good suits of dark grey material. whip cord for choice. Don't get blue as that shows the dirt and dark too much.
Cost about £16.

1 four-in-one Trench Coat " /35 to 2 Quince
2 pairs of shoes.
4 " " socks.
3 ties.

1 Doz. collars

1/2 " shirts with cuffs - soft fronts.

straps and cuff links

1 pr. gloves

1/2 handkerchiefs

I recommend Mess. Angles who has a place on the right hand side going towards the city end of Oxford St. on its continuation.

An eye shade. (very important)

Jan. 1.

Jan.

666 to V.L. Murray

Jan. 17.

666 to V.L.
(in hand of D. O'Brien.)

Jan.

1 or if possible 2 good suits of dark grey material. Whichever for choice. Don't get blue as that shows the dirt and dust too much.
Cost about £16.

1 four-in-one Trench Coat " /35 to 2 Guineas
2 pairs of shoes.

4 " " socks.

3 ties

1 Doz. collars

1/2 " shirts with cuffs - soft fronts.

straps and cuff links

1 pr. gloves

1/2 handkerchiefs

I recommend Moss, Angle who has a place on the right hand side going towards the city end of Oxford St. on its continuation.

An eye shade. (very important)

Better stick to 1 good one.

Better stick to
1 good one.

1 or 2 bottles 2 good suits of dark grey material cheap and for choice. Don't get the one with stripes the best and best too much.

Cost about £16.

1 pair - in - one Travel Coat " /35 to 2 Pairs

2 pairs of shoes.

4 " " socks.

3 ties

1 Doz. collars

1/2 " shirt with cuffs - soft fronts.

shirts and cuff links

1 pair. gloves

1/2 handkerchiefs

I never need Mr. Agle who has a place on the right hand side going towards the city and of Oxford St. on its continuation.

An eye shade. (Very important)

Jan. 17.

666 to V.L. Murray.

C.F. 93 ^{93/103}

Yours to hand, I decide to answer it. That is just what they told me: that you waste time on questions of formality when the horse won't give!

You got something done & I'll back you up and any one who questions your legal rights will get what the court got when the court got it.

Well, and no amount of sheepskin will save your sheep's brain.

Yours faithfully

The Great Wild Beast 666.

Don't you see that all these titles & rules are intended only to throw dust in the eyes of fools? They are the bonds of the slaves who serve.

What I want is answers to my questions, separate on what is being done.

You must realize something on part of that stock and catch me at least 20 pounds within 48 hours of receiving this.

167

Jan. 1.

666 to V.L.
(in hand of D. Olson.)

Send:-

a) My services b) Petits Pains c) Monticello

We want to get Montreal to join us, but our funds do not permit at present.

We are very anxious about her health. Should Benson suggest escorting her here, it might be a good thing. If so, he should be warned to pay no attention to anything she says (you can judge from this remark how bad I think her state is). . .

Give my very special love to O.P.V. and say how glad I am of his recovery as judged by the aura of his letter.

666.

166

Jan. 17.

666 to V. L. Murray

Jan.

C. F. 93 93/93

Yours to hand, I decline to answer it. That is just what Key told me; that you waste time on questions of formality when the house is on fire!

You get something done & I'll back you up and anyone who questions your legal rights will get what the camel got when the camel got it.

Fail, and no amount of sheepskin will save your sheep's brain.

Yours fraternally

The Great Wild Beast 666.

Don't you see that all those titles & rules are intended only to throw dust in the eyes of fools? They are the bonds of the slaves who serve.

What I want is answers to my questions, reports on what is being done.

You must realize something on part of that stock and cable me at least 20 pounds within 48 hours of receiving this.

Jan. 1.

666 to V. L.
(in hand of D. Olson.)

Jan.

Send:-

a) Any scenarios b) ⁶Petite Paines c) ²Montadello

We want to get Mostreal to join us, but our funds do not permit at present. We are very anxious about her health. Should Barron suggest escorting her here, it might be a good thing. If so, he should be warned to pay no attention to anything she says (you can judge from this remark how bad I think her state is). ...

Give my very special love to O. P. V. and say how glad I am of his recovery as judged by the aura of his letter.

666.

Jan. 17.

666 to V. L. Murray.

Jan.

C. F. 93 ⁹³/₉₃

Yours to hand, I decline to answer it. That is just what they told me; that you ^{would} waste time on questions of formality when the house was on fire!

You get something done & I'll back you up and anyone who questions your legal rights will get what the camel got when the camel got it.

Fail, and no amount of sheepskin will save your sheep's brain.

Yours fraternally

The Great Wild Beast 666.

Don't you see that all those titles & rules are intended only to throw dust in the eyes of fools? They are the bonds of the slaves who serve.

What I want is answers to my questions, reports on what is being done.

You must realize something on part of that stock and cable me at least 20 pounds within 48 hours of receiving this.

Jan. 1.

666 to V. L.

Jan.

(in hand of D. Olsen.)

Send:-

a) Any scenarios b) ⁶Petits Poèmes c) ²Montadello
- - - - -

We want to get Alotrail to join us, but our funds do not permit at present.

We are very anxious about her health. Should Barnon suggest escorting her here, it might be a good thing. If so, he should be warned to pay no attention to anything she says (you can judge from this remark how bad I think her state is). ...

Give my very special love to O.P.V. and say how glad I am of his recovery as judged by the aura of his letter.

666.

666 to V.L. Norway

C.F. 93 93

Yours to hand, I reckon to answer. That is just what they told me: that you waste time on questions of formality when the house was on fire!

You got something done & I'll back you up and anyone who questions your legal rights will get what the canal got when the canal got it. Fair, and no amount of sheepskin will save your sheep's brain.

Yours faithfully

The Great Wild Beast 666

Don't you see that all those titles & names are intended only to throw dust in the eyes of fools? They are the bonds of the slaves who serve.

What I want to answer to my questions, reports on what is being done.

You must reduce something on part of that stock and cable me at least 20 pounds within 48 hours of receiving this

Jan. 1.

666 to V.L.
(in hand of D. Olsen.)

Sand:-

a) My scenarios b) Petit Paines c) Montedello²

We want to get Abbot-rail to join us, but our funds do not permit at present. We are very anxious about her health. Should Benson suggest escorting her here, it might be a good thing. If so, he should be warned to pay no attention to anything she says (you can judge from this remark how bad I think her state is).

Give my very special love to O.P.V. and say how glad I am of his recovery as judged by the aura of his letter.

666.

Jan. 17.

666 to V.L. Norway

C.F. 93 ⁹³/₉₃

Yours to hand, I reckon to answer. That is just what they told me: that you waste time on questions of formality when the house women fire!

You got something done & I'll thank you & all anyone who questions your legal rights will get what the court got when the court got it.

First, and no amount of sheepskin will save your sheep's brain.

Yours faithfully

The Great Wild Beast 666.

Don't you see that all these letters & notes are intended only to throw dust in the eyes of facts? They are the bones of the sheep who save.

What I want to answer to my questions, separate or what is being done.

You must notice something on part of that stock and cattle are at least 20 pounds within 48 hours of receiving this

167

Jan. 1.

666 to V.L.
(in hand of D. Olson.)

Send:-

a) Any scenarios b) Pelt's Pains c) Montrose

We want to get Abbot-rail to join us, but our funds do not permit at present.

We are very anxious about her health. Should Baron suggest ascending her home, it might be a good thing. If so, he should be warned to pay no attention to anything she says (you can judge from his remark how bad I think her state is).

Give my very special love to O.P.V. and say how glad I am of his recovery as judged by the aura of his letter.

666.

166

O. T. O.

later than →
by a few days.

To A. C. Murray

act⁹ D⁷ C. M. S. T. I. at O. B.

93. On receipt of this Dispatch as complete as possible a set of my printed works to

Herrn Tränker,

Hohenleuten,

Reuss, Germany.

Register or insure the parcel.

Send also to the same gentleman a note of the names and addresses of the people said by Mr. Montgomery Evans 2nd to be interested in my work: but do not otherwise communicate with him.

93 93/93

Yours in the Bonds of the Order.

Baphomet X^o O. T. O.

R. S. S. I. I. at O. B.

I think it's simply disgraceful that I haven't yet received the Hag typescript for which I cabled you 1000 francs seven weeks ago. You wrote you were sending me an instalment before Christmas.

Where are those scenarios? Where are the books to be sent me and those to be sent to Ausant, and you write me letters about the extent of your jurisdiction.

bbb.

Hotel Majestic finds me: we are as broke as that!!!

Almost certainly the carbon copy of a letter from A.C. to 2.

167

Page 1 is letter 18 in this volume

belief that homo sapiens is the highest existing type of intelligence (You surely see that it would be too absurd if a tailless ape on a petty planet should have developed the biggest brain power in the Universe.) All religion has presupposed the existence of some mind higher than man's, but hitherto, there has been no proof. We know of many forces too subtle for our gross senses to perceive directly. All that has happened is that an Intelligence of some kind chose me to demonstrate its existence. I am a savagely skeptical man. Allow me to quote a chapter from my Book of Lies. ^{Enclosure A} I fought fiercely for years against accepting the claims of the Book of the Law, but I was forced into obedience by sheer superior strength and skill. The enclosed ^(B) memo (which I happened to have written a few days ago for somebody else) mentions two of very many incidents whose cumulative force is irresistible.

Let me ask you to consider one verse of the Book. "Every number is infinite: there is no difference." This implies a theory of mathematics which, when thoroughly worked out by experts, will, I believe, show the way out of some of the essential difficulties, paradoxes and antinomies. I should like to know whether meditation on this verse does not suggest to you a way out of certain impasses. The apparent contradiction between the two halves of the verse is itself a key.

There are many other passages which point to a cosmography which explains many apparent contradictions in nature. The difficulties connected with the conception of a continuum disappear. It also shows that each of us is in reality what each of us feels himself to be: the centre of the Universe. This becomes explicable on modern conceptions of the mathematical formulae of the Cosmology which were not extant when the Book was written. It is such facts which compel me to

Almost certainly the carbon copy of a letter from A.C. to

2.

167

Page 1 is letter 18 in this volume

belief that homo sapiens is the highest existing type of intelligence (You surely see that it would be too absurd if a tailless ape on a petty planet should have developed the biggest brain power in the Universe.) All religion has presupposed the existence of some mind higher than man's, but hitherto, there has been no proof. We know of many forces too subtle for our gross senses to perceive directly. All that has happened is that an Intelligence of some kind chose me to demonstrate its existence. I am a savagely skeptical man. Allow me to quote a chapter from my Book of Lies. ^{Enclosure A} Of fought fiercely for years against accepting the claims of the Book of the Law, but I was forced into obedience by sheer superior strength and skill. The enclosed memo (B) (which I happened to have written a few days ago for somebody else) mentions two of very many incidents whose cumulative force is irresistible.

Let me ask you to consider one verse of the Book. "Every number is infinite : there is no difference ." This implies a theory of mathematics which, when thoroughly worked out by experts, will, I believe, show the way out of some of the essential difficulties, paradoxes and antinomies. I should like to know whether meditation on this verse does not suggest to you a way out of certain impasses. The apparent contradiction between the two halves of the verse is itself a key.

There are many other passages which point to a cosmography which explains many apparent contradictions in nature. The difficulties connected with the conception of a continuum disappear. It also shows that each of us is in reality what each of us feels himself to be : the centre of the Universe. This becomes explicable on modern conceptions of the mathematical formulae of the Cosmogony which were not extant when the Book was written. It is such facts which compel me to

Almost certainly the carbon copy of a letter from A.C. to

2.

167

Page 1 is letter 18 in this volume

belief that homo sapiens is the highest existing type of intelligence (You surely see that it would be too absurd if a tailless ape on a petty planet should have developed the biggest brain power in the Universe.) All religion has presupposed the existence of some mind higher than man's, but hitherto, there has been no proof. We know of many forces too subtle for our gross senses to perceive directly. All that has happened is that an Intelligence of some kind chose me to demonstrate its existence. I am a savagely sceptical man. Allow me to quote a chapter from my Book of Lies. ^{Enclosure A} I fought fiercely for years against accepting the claims of the Book of the Law, but I was forced into obedience by sheer superior strength and skill. The enclosed ⁽¹³⁾ memo (which I happened to have written a few days ago for somebody else) mentions two of very many incidents whose cumulative force is irresistible.

Let me ask you to consider one verse of the Book. "Every number is infinite : there is no difference ." This implies a theory of mathematics which, when thoroughly worked out by experts, will, I believe, show the way out of some of the essential difficulties, paradoxes and antinomies. I should like to know whether meditation on this verse does not suggest to you a way out of certain impasses. The apparent contradiction between the two halves of the verse is itself a key.

There are many other passages which point to a cosmography which explains many apparent contradictions in nature. The difficulties connected with the conception of a continuum disappear. It also shows that each of us is in reality what each of us feels himself to be : the centre of the Universe. This becomes possible on modern conceptions of the mathematical formulae of the ~~Cosmic~~ conceptions which were not extant when the Book was written. It is such facts which compel me to

... what you ...

Almost certainly the carbon copy of a letter from A.C. to 2.

167

Page 1 is letter 18 in this volume

belief that homo sapiens is the highest existing type of intelligence (You surely see that it would be too absurd if a tailless ape on a petty planet should have developed the biggest brain power in the Universe.) All religion has presupposed the existence of some mind higher than man's, but hitherto, there has been no proof. We know of many forces too subtle for our gross senses to perceive directly. All that has happened is that an Intelligence of some kind chose me to demonstrate its existence. I am a savagely skeptical man. Allow me to quote a chapter from my Book of Lies. ^{Enclosure A} Of fought fiercely for years against accepting the claims of the Book of the Law, but I was forced into obedience by sheer superior strength and skill. The enclosed ⁽²⁾ memo (which I happened to have written a few days ago for somebody else) mentions two of very many incidents whose cumulative force is irresistible.

Let me ask you to consider one verse of the Book. "Every number is infinite : there is no difference ." This implies a theory of mathematics which, when thoroughly worked out by experts, will, I believe, show the way out of some of the essential difficulties, paradoxes and antinomies. I should like to know whether meditation on this verse does not suggest to you a way out of certain impasses. The apparent contradiction between the two halves of the verse is itself a key.

There are many other passages which point to a cosmography which explains many apparent contradictions in nature. The difficulties connected with the conception of a continuum disappear. It also shows that each of us is in reality what each of us feels himself to be : the centre of the Universe. This becomes possible on modern conceptions of the mathematical formulae of the ~~Cosmic~~ conceptions which were not extant when the Book was written. It is such facts which compel me to

To H. C. Murray
O. T. O.

looking down -
by a few days

I think it's simply impossible that I haven't yet believe that some evidence is the highest existing type of intelligence (You surely see that it would be too absurd to call it a fallacy and on a better plan should have developed the highest brain power in the Unit-verse.) All religion has presupposed the existence of some mind high-er than man's, but hitherto there has been no proof. We know of many traces too subtle for our gross senses to perceive directly. All that has happened is that an intelligence of some kind chose me to demon-strate its existence. I am a savagely spiritual man. Allow me to quote a chapter from my Book of Ideas. Of tonight fiercely for years against no other the claims of the Book of Ideas, but I was forced into obedience by their superior strength and skill. The enclosed name (which I happened to have written a few days ago for somebody else) mentions two of very many incidents whose cumulative force is irresistible.

Let me ask you to consider one verse of the Book. "Every num-ber is infinite: there is no difference." This implies a theory of mathematics which, when thoroughly worked out by experts, will, I be-lieve, show the way out of some of the essential difficulties, para-doxes and enigmas. I should like to know whether meditation on this verse does not suggest to you a way out of certain impasses. The appar-ent contradiction between the two halves of the verse is itself a key. There are many other passages which point to a cosmography which explains many apparent contradictions in nature. The difficulties connected with the conception of a continuum disappear. It also shows that each of us is in reality what each of us feels himself to be the centre of the Universe. This becomes possible on modern conceptions of the mathematical formulas of the cosmogony which were not extant when the Book was written. It is such fact which compelled me to belief that some sapiens is the highest existing type of intelligence (You surely see that it would be too absurd if a tailless ape on a petty planet should have developed the biggest brain power in the Universe.) All religion has presupposed the existence of some mind higher than man's, but hitherto, there has been no proof. We know of many forces too subtle for our gross senses to perceive directly. All that has happened is that an Intelligence of some kind chose me to demonstrate its existence. I am a savagely skeptical man. Allow me to quote a chapter from my Book of Lies. Of fought fiercely for years against accepting the claims of the Book of the Law, but I was forced into obedience by sheer superior strength and skill. The enclosed memo (which I happened to have written a few days ago for somebody else) mentions two of very many incidents whose cumulative force is irresistible.

Let me ask you to consider one verse of the Book. "Every number is infinite: there is no difference." This implies a theory of mathematics which, when thoroughly worked out by experts, will, I believe, show the way out of some of the essential difficulties, paradoxes and antinomies. I should like to know whether meditation on this verse does not suggest to you a way out of certain impasses. The apparent contradiction between the two halves of the verse is itself a key.

There are many other passages which point to a cosmography which explains many apparent contradictions in nature. The difficulties connected with the conception of a continuum disappear. It also shows that each of us is in reality what each of us feels himself to be: the centre of the Universe. This becomes possible on modern conceptions of the mathematical formulae of the Cosmos, conceptions which were not extant when the Book was written. It is such facts which compel me to admit that the Author was familiar with ideas which at that time had not been published.

You say " 'Do what thou wilt' may be the whole of the Law; but I doubt if it covers the whole of the ground." . May I show you in what sense it covers the whole of the ground? We conceive of you, and every other conscious Ego, as stars. Each has its own proper orbit. The law of any star is therefore the equation of its movement. Having taken into account all the forces which act to determine its direction, there remains one vector and one only in which it will move. By analogy, the True Will of any man should be the expression of a single definite course of action which is determined by its own characteristics and by the sum of the forces which act upon him. When I say "Do what thou wilt" I mean that in order to live intelligently and harmoniously with yourself, you ought to discover what your True Will is by calculating the resultant of all your reactions with all other individuals and circumstances, and having done so, apply yourself to do this Will instead of allowing yourself to be distracted by the thousand petty fancies which constantly creep up. They are partial expressions of the properties of subordinate factors, and should be controlled and used to keep you to the main purpose of your life instead of hindering you and leading you astray.

I am sure you will admit that this conception of ethics is rigidly mathematical. The obvious difficulty is how to determine and measure the various forces external and internal whose resultant is the True Will. Your objection is therefore a purely practical one. I admit the force of it and have been devoting myself for many years to the invention of a technique of self-analysis etc. to enable one to arrive at at least an approximation to the solution. Much can be done by estimating one's personal qualities, e.g. your genius for mathematics and your love of rock climbing indicate beyond doubt that you admit that the Author was familiar with ideas which at that time had not been published.

You say " 'Do what thou wilt' may be the whole of the Law; but I doubt if it covers the whole of the ground." . May I show you in what sense it covers the whole of the ground? We conceive of you, and every other conscious Ego, as stars. Each has its own proper orbit. The law of any star is therefore the equation of its movement. Having taken into account all the forces which act to determine its direction, there remains one vector and one only in which it will move. By analogy, the True Will of any man should be the expression of a single definite course of action which is determined by its own characteristics and by the sum of the forces which act upon him. When I say "Do what thou wilt" I mean that in order to live intelligently and harmoniously with yourself, you ought to discover what your True Will is by calculating the resultant of all your reactions with all other individuals and circumstances, and having done so, apply yourself to do this Will instead of allowing yourself to be distracted by the thousand petty fancies which constantly crop up. They are partial expressions of the properties of subordinate factors, and should be controlled and used to keep you to the main purpose of your life instead of hindering you and leading you astray.

I am sure you will admit that this conception of ethics is rigidly mathematical. The obvious difficulty is how to determine and measure the various forces external and internal whose resultant is the True Will. Your objection is therefore a purely practical one. I admit the force of it and have been devoting myself for many years to the invention of a technique of self-analysis etc. to enable one to arrive at at least an approximation to the solution. Much can be done by estimating one's personal qualities, e.g. your genius for mathematics and your love of rock climbing indicate beyond doubt that you admit that the Author was familiar with ideas which at that time had not been published.

You say " 'Do what thou wilt' may be the whole of the Law; but I doubt if it covers the whole of the ground." . May I show you in what sense it covers the whole of the ground? We conceive of you, and every other conscious Ego, as stars. Each has its own proper orbit. The law of any star is therefore the equation of its movement. Having taken into account all the forces which act to determine its direction, there remains one vector and one only in which it will move. By analogy, the True Will of any man should be the expression of a single definite course of action which is determined by its own characteristics and by the sum of the forces which act upon him. When I say "Do what thou wilt" I mean that in order to live intelligently and harmoniously with yourself, you ought to discover what your True Will is by calculating the resultant of all your reactions with all other individuals and circumstances, and having done so, apply yourself to do this Will instead of allowing yourself to be distracted by the thousand petty fancies which constantly crop up. They are partial expressions of the properties of subordinate factors, and should be controlled and used to keep you to the main purpose of your life instead of hindering you and leading you astray.

I am sure you will admit that this conception of ethics is rigidly mathematical. The obvious difficulty is how to determine and measure the various forces external and internal whose resultant is the True Will. Your objection is therefore a purely practical one. I admit the force of it and have been devoting myself for many years to the invention of a technique of self-analysis etc. to enable one to arrive at at least an approximation to the solution. Much can be done by estimating one's personal qualities, e.g. your genius for mathematics and your love of rock climbing indicate beyond doubt that you admit that the Author was familiar with ideas which at that time had not been published.

You say "Do what thou wilt" may be the whole of the Law; but I doubt if it covers the whole of the Ground. . . . I show you in what sense it covers the whole of the Ground? We conceived that you and every other conscious Ego, as stars. Each has its own proper orbit. The law of any star is therefore the equation of its movement. Having taken into account all the forces which act to determine its direction, there remains one vector and one only in which it will move. By analogy, the True Will of any man should be the expression of a single definite course of action which is determined by its own characteristics and by the sum of the forces which act upon him. When I say "Do what thou wilt" I mean that in order to live intelligently and harmoniously with yourself, you ought to discover what your True Will is by calculating the resultant of all your reactions with all other individuals and circumstances, and having done so, apply your self to do this Will instead of allowing yourself to be distracted by the thousand petty factors which constantly crop up. They are partial expressions of the properties of subordinate factors and would be controlled and used to keep you to the main purpose of your life instead of hindering you and leading you astray.

I am sure you will admit that this conception of ethics is rightly mathematical. The obvious difficulty is how to determine and measure the various forces external and internal whose resultant is the True Will. Your objection is therefore a purely practical one. I admit the force of it and have been devoting myself for many years to the invention of a technique of self-analysis etc. to enable one to arrive at at least an approximation to the solution. Much can be done by estimating one's personal qualities, e.g. your powers for endurance and your love of rock climbing indicate beyond doubt that you admit that the Author was familiar with ideas which at that time had not been published.

You say " 'Do what thou wilt' may be the whole of the law; but I doubt if it covers the whole of the ground." . . . say I show you in what sense it covers the whole of the ground? We conceive of you and every other conscious Ego, as stars. Each has its own proper orbit. The law of any star is therefore the equation of its movement. Having taken into account all the forces which act to determine its direction, there remains one vector and one only in which it will move. By analogy, the True Will of any man should be the expression of a single definite course of action which is determined by its own characteristics and by the sum of the forces which act upon him. When I say "Do what thou wilt" I mean that in order to live intelligently and harmoniously with yourself, you ought to discover what your True Will is by calculating the resultant of all your reactions with all other individuals and circumstances, and having done so, apply yourself to do this Will instead of allowing yourself to be distracted by the thousand petty fancies which constantly crop up. They are partial expressions of the properties of subordinate factors and should be controlled and used to keep you to the main purpose of your life instead of hindering you and leading you astray.

I am sure you will admit that this conception of ethics is rigidly mathematical. The obvious difficulty is how to determine and measure the various forces external and internal whose resultant is the True Will. Your objection is therefore a purely practical one. I admit the force of it and have been devoting myself for many years to the invention of a technique of self-analysis etc. to enable one to arrive at at least an approximation to the solution. Much can be done by estimating one's personal qualities, e.g. your genius for mathematics and your love of rock climbing indicate beyond doubt that you would be wronging yourself by devoting your life to classics and spending your holidays in sedentary pursuits. Similarly, your nationality shows that you were not meant to conduct cannibal feasts, while your social position debars you from breeding race horses or black - ing boots. You are "free" to do such things, but you won't satisfy your nature by so doing.

There is another line of investigation. By calculating the known portion of your orbit, you can get a fair idea of what is coming. Consider your life from birth to date - You can be sure that you will not be either an admiral or a bishop next year.

Of course you must neglect no one of the elements of the equation. Sometimes the minutest symptoms enable one to diagnose fundamental factors. Freud's technique (I do not endorse much of his theory) helps out here.

I expect no man to be convinced by my arguments. I should despise him if he were; but I ask each man to examine for himself whether "Do what thou wilt", understood as above, is not "the whole of the Law"; that is to say, a sufficient and sure guiding principle in ethics.

My experience is beginning to enable me to find out, after a comparatively brief examination, the main underlying principles in the characters of those who come to me for training. Thus I can warn them against pursuing ambitions which are unsuited to their natures and have been imposed upon them by vanity, the influence of stronger minds etc..

(Add. 5/95)
Consider Gorman, for example. Observe how he has taken up one idea after another, and after passionate efforts, found them futile. Consider how this instability must have caused him the unhappiness and hindrance of internal conflict. The cause is evident. There is something quite definite which he came to earth to do. His extra - would be wronging yourself by devoting your life to classics and spending your holidays in sedentary pursuits . Similarly, your nationality shows that you were not meant to conduct cannibal feasts , while your social position debars you from breeding race horses or black - ing bees. You are "free" to do such things, but you won't satisfy your nature by so doing.

There is another line of investigation. By calculating the known portion of your orbit, you can get a fair idea of what is coming. Consider your life from birth to date - You can be sure that you will not be either an admiral or a bishop next year.

Of course you must neglect no one of the elements of the equation . Sometimes the minutest symptom is enable one to diagnose fundamental factors. Freud's technique (I do not endorse much of his theory) helps out here.

I expect no man to be convinced by my arguments. I should despise him if he were ; but I ask each man to examine for himself whether "Do what thou wilt " , understood as above, is not "the whole of the Law"; that is to say, a sufficient and sure guiding principle in ethics.

My experience is beginning to enable me to find out , after a comparatively brief examination, the main underlying principles in the characters of those who come to me for training. Thus I can warn them against pursuing ambitions which are unsuited to their natures and have been imposed upon them by vanity , the influence of stronger minds etc..

(mod. 5-9)
Consider Norman /, for example . Observe how he has taken up one idea after another, and after passionate efforts, found them futile . Consider how this instability must have caused him the unhappiness and hindrance of internal conflict. The cause is evident . There is something quite definite which he came to earth to do. His extra - would be wronging yourself by devoting your life to classics and spending your holidays in sedentary pursuits . Similarly, your nationality shows that you were not meant to conduct cannibal feasts ,while your social position debars you from breeding race horses or black - ing bees. You are "free" to do such things, but you won't satisfy your nature by so doing.

There is another line of investigation. By calculating the known portion of your orbit, you can get a fair idea of what is coming. Consider your life from birth to date - You can be sure that you will not be either an admiral or a bishop next year.

Of course you must neglect no one of the elements of the equation . Sometimes the minutest symptomenable one to diagnose fundamental factors. Freud's technique (I do not endorse much of his theory) helps out here.

I expect no man to be convinced by my arguments. I should despise him if he were ; but I ask each man to examine for himself whether "Do what thou wilt " ,understood as above, is not "the whole of the Law"; that is to say, a sufficient and sure guiding principle in ethics.

My experience is beginning to enable me to find out ,after a comparatively brief examination, the main underlying principles in the characters of those who come to me for training. Thus I can warn them against pursuing ambitions which are unsuited to their natures and have been imposed upon them by vanity , the influence of stronger minds etc..

(Mod. 579)
Consider Norman /, for example . Observe how he has taken up one idea after another, and after passionate efforts, found them futile . Consider how this instability must have caused him the unhappiness and hindrance of internal conflict. The cause is evident . There is something quite definite which he came to earth to do. His extra - would be wronging yourself by devoting your life to classics and spending your holidays in sedentary pursuits. Similarly, your nationality shows that you were not meant to conduct cannibal feasts, while your social position debars you from breeding race horses or blacking boots. You are "free" to do such things, but you won't satisfy your nature by so doing.

There is another line of investigation. By calculating the known portion of your orbit, you can get a fair idea of what is coming. Consider your life from birth to date - You can be sure that you will not be either an admiral or a bishop next year.

Of course you must neglect no one of the elements of the equation. Sometimes the minutest symptoms enable one to diagnose fundamental factors. Freud's technique (I do not endorse much of his theory) helps out here.

I expect no man to be convinced by my arguments. I should despise him if he were; but I ask each man to examine for himself whether "Do what thou wilt", understood as above, is not "the whole of the Law"; that is to say, a sufficient and sure guiding principle in ethics.

My experience is beginning to enable me to find out, after a comparatively brief examination, the main underlying principles in the characters of those who come to me for training. Thus I can warn them against pursuing ambitions which are unsuited to their natures and have been imposed upon them by vanity, the influence of stronger minds etc..

Consider Norman, for example. Observe how he has taken up one idea after another, and after passionate efforts, found them futile. Consider how this instability must have caused him the unhappiness and hindrance of internal conflict. The cause is evident. There is something quite definite which he came to earth to do. His extra - would be wronging yourself by devoting your life to classics and spending your holidays in sedentary pursuits. Similarly, your nationally shows that you were not meant to conduct cannibal feasts, while your social position departs you from presiding race horses or blacking boots. There is another line of investigation. By calculating the knowledge of your orbit. You can get a fair idea of what is coming. Consider your life from birth to date - You can be sure that you will not be either an admiral or a bishop next year.

Of course you must neglect no one of the elements of the education. Sometimes the minutest symptoms are the disease fundamental factors. Freud's technique (I do not endorse much of his techny) helps out here.

I expect no man to be convinced by my arguments. I should describe him if he were; but I ask each man to examine for himself whether "he what then will" is understood as above, is not "the whole of the law"; that is to say, a sufficient and sure guiding principle in ethics.

My experience is beginning to enable me to find out after a comparatively brief examination, the main underlying principles in the characters of those who come to me for training. Thus I can warn them against pursuing ambitions which are unsuited to their natures and have been imposed on them by vanity. The influence of stronger minds etc.

Consider Newman, for example. Observe how he has taken up one idea after another, and after passionate efforts, found them futile. Consider how this instability must have caused him the unhappiness and hindrance of internal conflict. The cause is evident. There is something quite definite which he came to earth to do. His extra-would be wronging yourself by devoting your life to classics and spending your holidays in sedentary pursuits. Similarly, your nationality shows that you were not meant to conduct cannibal feasts, while your social position debars you from breeding race horses or blacking boots. You are free "to do such things, but you don't want to."

There is another line of investigation. By calculating the known portion of your orbit, you can get a fair idea of what is coming. Consider your life from birth to date - You can be sure that you will not be either an admiral or a bishop next year.

Of course you must neglect no one of the elements of the equation. Sometimes the minutest symptom sensible one to diagnose fundamental factors. Freud's technique (I do not endorse much of his theory) helps out here.

I expect no man to be convinced by my arguments. I should despise him if he were; but I ask each man to examine for himself whether "Do what thou wilt" understood as above, is not "the whole of the Law"; that is to say, a sufficient and sure guiding principle in ethics.

My experience is beginning to enable me to find out after a comparatively brief examination, the main underlying principles in the characters of those who come to me for training. Thus I can warn them against pursuing ambitions which are unsuited to their natures and have been imposed upon them by vanity, the influence of stronger minds etc..

Consider Norman, for example. Observe how he has taken up one idea after another, and after passionate efforts, found them futile. Consider how this instability must have caused him the unhappiness and hindrance of internal conflict. The cause is evident. There is something quite definite which he came to earth to do. His extraordinary qualities suggest that this Will of his is unique and important. His failure to discover what he really Wills has made his life a tempest and prevented him steaming steadily towards the right harbor. I am sure you will see that scientific study of his character, talents, and environment will supply the data required to calculate the course he ought to steer, and that immediately he becomes conscious of this course, he will be able to direct all his energy into the proper channel and thus accomplish the task for which he is fundamentally fitted.

You yourself seem to be fairly happy in your work and prospects. I dare say you can hardly understand the violence of the passions which tear asunder those who feel themselves in desperate need of doing something stupendous, and cannot be sure what it is. They try one thing after another, blindly and eagerly; Religion, theosophy, Mysticism, and what not; or despairingly seek to forget their agony in debauchery, drugs, and the like. Yet such people abound. They are usually the highest types; the strength of their passions and the seriousness with which they take themselves, shows it. It is my job to help such people to solve their complex equations by scientific study of the elements of their characters and environment, and the relation between them. I have had much success already, and each year experience makes diagnosis simpler and surer. If I can help you in any way, I shall be heartily glad, or if you know any genius who is butting brick walls, send him to me to set him on the proper path. The obligation is mutual, for each fresh case fills a gap in my knowledge.

Love is the law, love under will,

Hoping that you will forgive me for troubling you with this letter, and understand from it that I am as skeptical as yourself, and seriously and passionately devoted to furthering the progress of human ordinary qualities suggest that this Will of his is unique and important. His failure to discover what he really Wills has made his life a tempest and prevented him steering steadily towards the right harbor. I am sure you will see that scientific study of his character, talents, and environment will supply the data required to calculate the course he ought to steer, and that, immediately he becomes conscious of this course, he will be able to direct all his energy into the proper channel and thus accomplish the task for which he is fundamentally fitted.

You yourself seem to be fairly happy in your work and prospects. I dare say you can hardly understand the violence of the passions which tear asunder those who feel themselves in desperate need of doing something stupendous, and cannot be sure what it is. They try one thing after another, blindly and eagerly; religion, theosophy, Mysticism, and what not; or despairingly seek to forget their agony in debauchery, drugs, and the like. Yet such people abound. They are usually the highest types; the strength of their passions and the seriousness with which they take themselves, shows it. It is my job to help such people to solve their complex equations by scientific study of the elements of their characters and environment, and the relation between them. I have had much success already, and each year experience makes diagnosis simpler and surer. If I can help you in any way, I shall be heartily glad, or if you know any genius who is butting brick walls, send him to me to set him on the proper path. The obligation is mutual, for each fresh case fills a gap in my knowledge.

Love is the law, love under will,

Hoping that you will forgive me for troubling you with this letter, and understand from it that I am as skeptical as yourself, and seriously and passionately devoted to furthering the progress of human -

ordinary qualities suggest that this Will of his is unique and important. His failure to discover what he really Wills has made his life a tempest and prevented him steaming steadily towards the right harbor. I am sure you will see that scientific study of his character, talents, and environment will supply the data required to calculate the course he ought to steer, and that immediately he becomes conscious of this course, he will be able to direct all his energy into the proper channel and thus accomplish the task for which he is fundamentally fitted.

You yourself seem to be fairly happy in your work and prospects. I dare say you can hardly understand the violence of the passions which tear asunder those who feel themselves in desperate need of doing something stupendous, and cannot be sure what it is. They try one thing after another, blindly and eagerly; religion, theosophy, Mysticism, and what not; or despairingly seek to forget their agony in debauchery, drugs, and the like. Yet such people abound. They are usually the highest types; the strength of their passions and the seriousness with which they take themselves, shows it. It is my job to help such people to solve their complex equations by scientific study of the elements of their characters and environment, and the relation between them. I have had much success already, and each year experience makes diagnosis simpler and surer. If I can help you in any way, I shall be heartily glad, or if you know any genius who is butting brick walls, send him to me to set him on the proper path. The obligation is mutual, for each fresh case fills a gap in my knowledge.

Love is the law, love under will,

Hoping that you will forgive me for troubling you with this letter, and understand from it that I am as skeptical as yourself, and seriously and passionately devoted to furthering the progress of human -

ordinary qualities suggest that this Will of his is unique and important. His failure to discover what he really Wills has made his life a tempest and prevented him steaming steadily towards the right harbor. I am sure you will see that scientific study of his character, talents, and environment will supply the data required to calculate the course he ought to steer, and that immediately he becomes conscious of this course, he will be able to direct all his energy into the proper channel and thus accomplish the task for which he is fundamentally fitted.

You yourself seem to be fairly happy in your work and prospects. I dare say you can hardly understand the violence of the passions which tear asunder those who feel themselves in desperate need of doing something stupendous, and cannot be sure what it is. They try one thing after another, blindly and eagerly; religion, theosophy, Mysticism, and what not; or despairingly seek to forget their agony in debauchery, drugs, and the like. Yet such people abound. They are usually the highest types; the strength of their passions and the seriousness with which they take themselves, shows it. It is my job to help such people to solve their complex equations by scientific study of the elements of their characters and environment, and the relation between them. I have had much success already, and each year experience makes diagnosis simpler and surer. If I can help you in any way, I shall be heartily glad, or if you know any genius who is butting brick walls, send him to me to set him on the proper path. The obligation is mutual, for each fresh case fills a gap in my knowledge.

Love is the law, love under will,

Hoping that you will forgive me for troubling you with this letter, and understand from it that I am as skeptical as yourself, and seriously and passionately devoted to furthering the progress of human -

ordinary qualities suggest that this will of his is unique and important. His failure to discover what he really wills has made his life a tempest and prevented him steering steadily towards the right harbor. I am sure you will see that scientific study of his character, talents, and environment will supply the data required to calculate the course he ought to steer, and that, immediately he becomes conscious of this course, he will be able to direct all his energy into the proper channel and thus accomplish the task for which he is fundamentally fitted.

You yourself seem to be fairly happy in your work and progress. I dare say you can hardly understand the violence of the passions which tear around those who feel themselves in desperate need of doing something stupendous, and cannot be sure what it is. They try one theory after another, blindly and eagerly; religion, theology, mysticism, and what not; or despairingly seek to forget their agony in debauchery, drugs, and the like. Yet such people should. They are usually the highest types; the strength of their passions and the seriousness with which they take themselves, shows it. It is my job to help such people to solve their complex equations by scientific study of the elements of their characters and environment, and the relation between these elements had much success already, and each year experience makes diagnosis simpler and surer. If I can help you in any way, I shall be heartily glad or if you know any genius who is putting brick walls, send him to me to set him on the proper path. The obligation is mutual, for each fresh case fills a gap in my knowledge.

Love is the law, love under will.

Hoping that you will forgive me for troubling you with this letter and understand from it that I am as skeptical as yourself, and seriously and passionately devoted to furthering the progress of human ordinary qualities suggest that this Will of his is unique and important. His failure to discover what he really Wills has made his life a tempest and prevented him steaming steadily towards the right harbour. I am sure you will see that scientific study of his character, talents, and environment will supply the data required to calculate the course he ought to steer, and that, immediately he becomes conscious of this course, he will be able to direct all his energy into the proper channel and thus accomplish the task for which he is fundamentally fitted.

You yourself seem to be fairly happy in your work and prospects. I dare say you can hardly understand the violence of the passions which tear asunder those who feel themselves in desperate need of doing something stupendous, and cannot be sure what it is. They try one theory after another, blindly and eagerly; religion, theosophy, mysticism, and what not; or despairingly seek to forget their agony in debauchery, drugs, and the like. Yet such people abound. They are usually the highest types; the strength of their passions and the seriousness with which they take themselves, shows it. It is my job to help such people to solve their complex equations by scientific study of the elements of their characters and environment, and the relation between them. We have had much success already, and each year experience makes diagnosis simpler and surer. If I can help you in any way, I shall be heartily glad or if you know any genius who is butting brick walls, send him to me to set him on the proper path. The obligation is mutual, for each fresh case fills a gap in my knowledge.

Love is the law, love under will,

Hoping that you will forgive me for troubling you with this letter and understand from it that I am as skeptical as yourself, and seriously and passionately devoted to furthering the progress of human ity by freeing geniuses from their inhibitions,

Yours fraternally,

P.S. You may be fairly happy in your work, but let me ask you if it satisfies every element in your nature without exception? If not, it should be possible to discover a higher synthesis to include these: an object in life which will enable you to fulfil yourself wholly.

6.

ity by freeing geniuses from their inhibitions.

Yours fraternally,

P.S. You may be fairly happy in your work, but let me ask you if it satisfies every element in your nature without exception? If not, it should be possible to discover a higher synthesis to include these; an object in life which will enable you to fulfil yourself wholly.

by freeing business from their inhibitions.

Yours faithfully,

P.S. You may be fairly happy in your work, but let me say you it is essential every element in your nature without exception? If not,
it should be possible to discover a higher synthesis to include these;
an object in life which will enable you to fulfill yourself wholly.

ity by freeing geniuses from their inhibitions.

Yours fraternally,

P.S. You may be fairly happy in your work, but let me ask you if it satisfies every element in your nature without exception? If not, it should be possible to discover a higher synthesis to include these; an object in life which will enable you to fulfil yourself wholly.

a

132

TERRIER - WORK.

Doubt.

Doubt thyself.

Doubt even if thou doubttest thyself.

Doubt all.

Doubt even if thou doubttest all.

It seems sometimes as if beneath all conscious doubt there lay some deepest certainty.

O kill it ! Slay the snake !

The horn of the Doubt-Goat be exalted !

Dive deeper, ever deeper, into the Abyss of Mind, until thou unearth the fox THAT.

On, hounds ! Yoicks ! Tally-ho ! Bring THAT to bay !

Then, wind the Mort !

a

TERRIER - WORK.

Doubt.

Doubt thyself.

Doubt even if thou doubttest thyself.

Doubt all.

Doubt even if thou doubttest all.

It seems sometimes as if beneath all conscious doubt there lay
some deepest certainty.

O kill it ! Slay the snake !

The horn of the Doubt-Goat be exalted !

Dive deeper, ever deeper, into the Abyss of Mind, until thou unearth the fox THAT.

On, hounds ! Yoicks ! Tally-ho ! Bting THAT to bay !

Then, wind the Mort !

£

let us freedom from their limitations.

Yours faithfully,

P.S. You may be fairly happy in your work, but let me say you are neglecting every element in your nature without exception. It is not it should be possible to discover a higher synthesis to include these an object in life which will enable you to fulfil yourself wholly.

TERRIER - WORK.

Doubt.

Doubt thyself.

Doubt even if thou doubtest thyself.

Doubt all.

Doubt even if thou doubtest all.

It seems sometimes as if beneath all conscious doubt there lay
some deepest certainty.

O kill it ! Slay the snake !

The horn of the Doubt-Goat be exalted !

Dive deeper, ever deeper, into the Abyss of Mind, until thou unearth the fox THAT.

On, hounds ! Yoicks ! Tally-ho ! Sting THAT to bay !

Then, wind the Mort !

01228

